Once upon a time, there was a famous warrior named Wei Jian Tsen. Wei Jian Tsen waged many battles and became ruler of many lands. After each victory, he would go into the mountains to meditate on what he had learned that day. On one of his journeys into the mountains he met a simple craftsman named Dai Bing. Dai Bing recognized that Wei Jian Tsen had learned the way of a true warrior by balancing the forces of good and evil in himself. As a tribute to Wei Jian Tsen, Dai Bing - who was in reality the great sorcerer Ka Fung - crafted a mask that could be broken into two halves, one representing good and one representing evil. When the two halves of the mask were joined, the wearer would possess untold power.

Wei Jian Tsen used the power of the mask wisely for many years and was very happy. Then one day, darkness entered his household. His beloved Mei Tu, 2nd wife to Wei Jian Tsen, came under the spell of the Black Flower Cult, an ancient society which was thought to have been murder.

Under the influence of the Cult, Mei Tu gave birth to their only son - Fang Tu - and plotted to steal the magical mask from Wei Jian Tsen. Discovering the dark power of Mei Tu, Wei Jian Tsen became afraid of the evil that she might loose on the world. He had her executed to save his people. Fang Tu was too young to understand his father's actions and filled with venom. He left the clan. Wei Jian Tsen feared the worst and divided the mask into its two parts: half he placed in the care of Master Kai Chi Tien, the eldest and most respected of the Shaolin monks; the other half he kept by his side where it would be safe.

For many years, it seemed as if peace had returned to Wei Jian Tsen and his clan. Then one day, the villainous

Fang Tu returned to his homeland to kill his father and reclaim the mask. Master Kai heard of Fang Tu's massacre. He knew that Fang Tu would learn the location of the other half of the mask and knew that he had to remove his precious treasure from its resting place. But he also knew that Fang Tu would track him down. Master Kai was afraid to carry the mask himself and called upon the most trusted disciple of the ancient order of the White Robe to bring it from the Shaolin temple to his secret sanctuary hidden in a cave deep in the woods.

The hardest step in any journey is always the first...

YOUR OPPONENTS

EARTH WARLORD

FULL NAME: Zulkhan,
Earth Warlord of the Mongol Province

ALSO KNOWN AS: No other known aliases

FIGHTING STYLE:
Mongolian wrestling

SPECIAL SKILLS: Earth is the strongest warrior this planet has known. He has great physical strength, with the ability to press ten tons under optimal conditions. He has great proficiency in wrestling, is deadly with the battle-axe and battle-hammer, and has developed the BUDDHA PALM technique (which results in internal hemorrhaging when applied to an opponent). No fighter has ever survived this vicious strike.

You must also be careful not to get caught by his EARTHQUAKE.

VULNERABILITY: He has a bad temper, bordering on psychosis. Because of this, he likes to get right in the face of his opponents. If you dare to hit him, watch for openings then.

BIOGRAPHY: Earth was born Zulkhan, son of a Mongolian soldier and a Turkish slave. Because he looked different from the other children, Zulkhan was always a troubled child. He was very aggressive and learned to fight at an early age. By 15, he had already mastered the arts of

TO SEE YOURSELF IS TO PROTECT YOURSELF. TO SEE THOSE AROUND YOU IS TO DEFEAT THEM.

Mongolian
grappling
and close

range fights. He was bigger and stronger than most of the top Mongolian soldiers and would often beat and humiliate them. One day, Zulkhan challenged Chenji Jun, Kublai Khan's best field general, and destroyed him in seconds. Fleeing execution, Zulkhan left for the mountains of Tibet where he was taken in by Wo Ching, a local Warlord and master of the Iron Palm. Zulkhan learned quickly and mastered this technique. Many years later, Zulkhan developed his own style, Iron Body, where his skin was as strong as steel armor and, with every strike, his arms and elbows shook the earth. One day, coming back from a journey, Earth learned that his master, Wo Ching, had battled an incredible fighter and died from this warrior's hands of fire. Earth became crazed with anger and went off to seek revenge. In his near psychotic state, he made a game of destroying any villages that stood in his path. In each town, Earth would raze every building - except the tavern which he would make his home for a short while before journeying on. While searching for his master's killer, Earth encountered a young man who tricked him into thinking that the same killer had murdered the young man's father. The young man told Earth that he would never have to worry about food and shelter and that, by holding tournaments, they could lure the killer into a trap and take their revenge unmercifully. Unknowingly, Earth revealed his secrets of the BUDDHA PALM and the Iron Body to this young man, Fang Tu.

EARTH BODYGUARD 1

FULL NAME: Stone

ALSO KNOWN AS:
Devil of Stone, Fists of Stone

FIGHTING STYLE:
Mongolian wrestling

SPECIAL SKILLS: Stone has the strength of an elephant and can crush a man's femur between his thumb and forefinger. He has very strong hands and is more likely to punch than kick.

He has studied the art of Mongolian wrestling and has a natural affinity for its blunt, aggressive style.

VULNERABILITY: Stone comes from a simple background and is not a good strategist. He gets frustrated easily and will charge you openly. Wait for those moments to strike.

BIOGRAPHY: Stone came from a humble family of blacksmiths. His life changed forever when a rebel monk named Hon Qu commissioned him to make vicious warriors' weapons for his gang of thugs who pillaged the countryside. Stone worked diligently for days and, after he was done, would not accept Hon Qu's money. Instead, Stone asked Hon Qu if he would take him in as his understudy and teach him the ways of Evil. Seeing that Stone was such a willing student, Hon Qu accepted. Although Hon Qu's stay was short, Stone excelled at villainy through dedication and his natural strength. Stone was as strong as an elephant and, aside from Earth, was probably one of the strongest men alive. Years later, upon hearing the news of Hon Qu's death, Stone left in search of Earth to offer his help in avenging Hon Qu's death. After a bloodbath of retribution against the killer and his clan in which Stone crushed their skulls in a grinding wheel, Earth honored Stone by granting him the position of First Exalted Bodyguard.

EARTH BODYGUARD 2

FULL NAME: Ambrosia

ALSO KNOWN AS:

Lady of Snow, IceKiller

FIGHTING STYLE: Dahong boxing

SPECIAL SKILLS: Ambrosia is easily the meanest of all the bodyguards. She delights in torturing her opponents and has mastered the Evil Eye technique which causes her opponents to lose their minds, making them easier to defeat.

VULNERABILITY: As a child, Ambrosia was a compulsive liar. Now, her body cannot follow her own lead. If she means to deceive her opponent, her body responds by doing the exact opposite. Therefore, she is only able to launch direct frontal attacks. Any feints or fakes result in a weak attack that can be easily countered, thus making her vulnerable to defeat. Though her strength is great, a smart fighter can defeat her by timing blows carefully.

BIOGRAPHY: Ambrosia was the youngest of five from a very poor household. At the age of 16, she was sold to a wealthy family to be wed. Seizing the first opportunity to escape her fate, Ambrosia fled into the forest near her village. Infuriated by this, the family sent mercenaries to put her to the sword. Coincidentally, Earth was traveling through the village on one of his journeys when he saw Ambrosia near execution. The mercenaries turned on Earth thinking he would be easy prey, but were pummeled and run off by Ambrosia right before the stunned Warlord's eyes. Earth desired to take this precocious young hellion under his powerful spell of Evil and, from that point on, Ambrosia traveled with him and learned the Dark Path from Earth. As years passed, Ambrosia blossomed into a beautiful but deadly woman warrior whose merciless heart and devastating fighting skills instilled fear into all of her unfortunate opponents.

FIRE WARLORD

FULL NAME: Hatu, Fire Warlord of the Hunan Province

ALSO KNOWN AS:
Scourge of the Wazuzi

FIGHTING STYLE: Kung Fu, Animal styles

SPECIAL SKILLS: The Fire Warlord's fighting style is eclectic, incorporating moves from many disciplines. He moves quickly and agilely like a leopard and has mastered all the animal styles of Kung Fu. He mesmerizes his adversaries with snake-like arm movements, but watch out for his kicks.

His most deadly kick, the LEOPARD STRIKE, has been known to separate an opponent's head from his body.

You must also be careful not to get caught by the Fire Warlord's FIREBALL.

VULNERABILITY: Prince Hatu is overconfident. He will taunt you by leaving open first one side face, then the other. Hit him with a hook when that happens.

BIOGRAPHY: Fire was born Hatu of the Wazuzi tribe on the island of Jiaman (also known as the "Island of Fire"). The Wazuzi tribe worshipped Atianabe, their God of Fire. It was written that the one who could withstand the fire and power of Atianabe in the Inchas mountains for three days would be the rightful leader of the Wazuzi. From the time Hatu was an infant, he was bathed in boiling hot water - preparing him, one day, for this test. Hatu had a secret plan. He wanted not only to survive the test of the fire but to stay beyond the three days so that he would become the most powerful man on Earth. As soon as Hatu reached adulthood, he climbed the Inchas mountains. After three days Hatu didn't return and the Wazuzi people, thinking that he had not survived the fire of Atianabe, were saddened. After two weeks passed, Hatu came down from the mountains of Inchas radiating like the sun, lava dripping from his hands.

The villagers felt the power of Hatu, but something was wrong. The Wazuzi people soon learned that Hatu had become twisted by staying on the mountains of Inchas for so long. Instead of enduring the test, he had become possessed by the fire and was engulfed by the violent side of his nature. Hatu insisted on fighting all of the best warriors from the Wazuzi tribe. After learning their best secret techniques, he killed these warriors while they slept.

Fire believed himself to be the most feared warrior on the face of the earth until a traveler came to the island of Jiaman. He told Fire that masters from other lands did not believe in his power and questioned his techniques. This infuriated the obsessed fighter, and so he agreed to go with the traveler to his homeland to eliminate these pretenders. This Machiavellian traveler, Fang Tu, learned the secrets of Fire's skills during this time and now uses them to great advantage in his quest to crush all opposition.

FIRE BODYGUARD 1

FULL NAME: Juk-San

ALSO KNOWN AS: No other known aliases

FIGHTING STYLE: Kung Fu

SPECIAL SKILLS: Juk-San has razor sharp blows and can slice an opponent into pieces with his bare hands. He is particularly proficient at the Tongbi (Long Arm) style of Shaolin boxing.

VULNERABILITY: He is very precise in his movements but will expose his face when he is not careful.

BIOGRAPHY: Although Juk-San and Hatu (Fire) grew up as best friends, Juk-San felt his abilities as a martial artist were better than Hatu's. Juk-San would always challenge Fire to tests of strength, but Fire would not accept. Years later, Fire came down from the test of the lava mountains and sought Juk-San for the first challenge. Juk-San saw the change in his friend and was afraid to fight. Fire did not accept this answer and insisted that Juk-San must serve him or die. Because he feared for his life, Juk-San agreed to the task and became Fire's most lethal bodyguard, laying waste to any enemy that stood in Fire's way.

FIRE BODYGUARD 2

FULL NAME: Chung
(remainder of name unknown)

ALSO KNOWN AS:
Little Lau Tsai, The Scorpion

FIGHTING STYLE: Kung Fu,
Northern style

SPECIAL SKILLS: Chung is extremely flexible. He has the acrobatic abilities of an world class gymnast which he uses to confuse his opponents. He moves around so often that you never know where a blow will come from next.

Chung has trained in the Northern style of Kung Fu specializing in long range techniques.

VULNERABILITY: Chung will present clearly defined openings as he pauses from his bigger moves. Watch for them.

BIOGRAPHY: The Wazuzi people had always been known for their strength and agility and Hatu (Fire) was their fiercest warrior. After Fire had been put to the test of the lava mountains, he wanted to fight and defeat everyone in the land and surrounding islands. Chung's master, Lau Tsai, heard of this contest while pillaging a nearby island. Not knowing of Fire's incredible arsenal of tricks which had been stolen from earlier opponents, Lau Tsai traveled to Jiaman to overthrow Hatu and claim the mysteries of the Fire for himself. Master Lau Tsai was promptly killed by the Fire Warlord. Fire realized that Chung was Lau Tsai's most talented student and knew Chung would be a great asset to him with his skill in conquering other lands, so he spared Chung's life. Chung, who had never seen such pure evil in fighting, was in awe of Fire and became his most loyal bodyguard, killing and maiming without hesitation or emotion.

WIND WARLORD

FULL NAME: Prince Yi, Wind Warlord of the Hunan Province

ALSO KNOWN AS: Black Whirlwind, Black Monsoon, The Vampire Bat

FIGHTING STYLE: Wu shu

SPECIAL SKILLS: Wind has great, nearly superhuman speed. It is said that he can punch a man thirty times before his victim can even feel the first punch. His true hand speed has never been measured, but his running speed has been documented at nearly 60 miles an hour.

His is master of both Northern and Southern Styles, as well as the Shaolin five Animal styles.

His most deadly technique is a flying move which he calls the PHOENIX EYE. You must also be careful not to get caught by his HURRICANE.

VULNERABILITY: He is very impatient and often makes rash, dangerous decisions. Watch for when he turns his back to you. That is the time for multiple techniques.

BIOGRAPHY: Wind (Prince Yi as legend has it) was said to have appeared during the Sung dynasty from the old Hua San mountains of Hunan. Prince Yi's domain was a peaceful and serene land. With the help of his wife, Swei-Ling, they set a tone of love and loyalty for their people for many years.

While on their daily walk, Swei-Ling and their daughter, Shao Hua, were brutally murdered by a group of bandits from a northern territory, known as the Army of the Black Sword. Half-crazed, Prince Yi set out on a vengeful path of murder and destruction looking for the killers. Deep in the forests of Liu Tien, Yi encountered the Black Sword army. The ensuing battle was known as Shreh Zhang, "The War of Blood." Yi possessed the fighting elements of wind. His legs kicked with the speed of a tornado. Yet, even with all these powers, the army of the Black Sword drained Yi. Seriously wounded and unable to fight, Yi was aided by a young general with incredible fighting powers and together they destroyed the Army of the Black Sword.

With the deaths of his family avenged, Yi denounced his own throne and made an oath to protect and destroy all enemies of this young general, Fang Tu, for the rest of his life. Fang Tu gladly accepted Wind's pledge of loyalty and nourished Wind back to health. However, Fang Tu used Wind's weakness to appeal to his darker side. Wind's sinister fascination with occult power betrayed his noble nature, transforming him. He became evil and fought and killed for Fang Tu. He began to enjoy the slaughter, and on any given battle plain, could be seen laughing madly as he crushed his victims one after the other. By spying on Wind while he practiced, Fang Tu learned THE PHOENIX EYE, Wind's deadliest assault.

WIND BODYGUARD 1

FULL NAME: Swei-Jin, sister-in-law to Prince Yi

ALSO KNOWN AS: Black Phoenix, Black Bird of Fire

FIGHTING STYLE: Kung Fu Crane and Mantis style

SPECIAL SKILLS: Swei-Jin is as deadly as she is graceful. Her blows carry the force of three men – especially when she lands them in a flurry from the air.

Her fighting skills and hand and foot speed are five times that of a normal human being (her speed is second only to the Warlord known as Wind). She is trained in the Southern style of Chinese martial arts and can deliver ten punches at close range within one second. She has the ability to trap and tie up a man's hands with one hand while delivering rapid punches with the other.

VULNERABILITY: Swei-Jin likes a lot of spinning moves. Catch her as she is coming out of one, when she is off-balance.

BIOGRAPHY: Swei-Jin was the sister-in-law to Prince Yi. Although Yi was her sister's husband, Swei-Jin was secretly in love with the young prince for many years. She could not control her passion and saw her opportunity after her sister's death. Despite the turn in Prince Yi's ways, Swei-Jin followed him hopelessly. Shei-Jin's beauty was picturesque like her sister Swei-Ling, but her abilities to fight set her apart. Swei-Jin's father was Swei Jao Fung, a famous master of the Crane and Mantis techniques, which is the base of her strong Kung Fu. Swei-Jin furthered her knowledge by learning the flying wind strikes from Prince Yi and later was the only female field general in Yi's army. Swei-Jin's moves are graceful to watch but fatal to the enemies she attacks. She is feared by all as her mindless pursuit of Prince Yi's security leads her to acts of sudden viciousness and brutality.

FULL NAME: Chao Yen

ALSO KNOWN AS:

The Masked Assassin

FIGHTING STYLE: Wu shu

SPECIAL SKILLS: Chao Yen

flies higher and faster than anyone else. He can leap into the air, spin around and come at his opponents in the blink of an eye.

VULNERABILITY: Although he has practiced tiedugong (iron abdomen), Chao Yen has a weakness in his stomach. Target there...with more than one move.

BIOGRAPHY: Chao Yen was a farmer who tried but barely provided for his family. One day, while plowing the fields with his oxen, Chao Yen did not hear the advances of the Army of the Black Sword. Unfortunately for him and his family, their land was the exact site intended for the ambush of Wind (in what was later to be called the "War of Blood"). Chao Yen came home horrified to find his family murdered. Soldiers of the Black Sword tied Chao Yen and were ready to burn him alive when Wind came upon them. After being freed, Chao Yen witnessed Wind and Fang Tu destroy the Army of the Black Sword. While healing his wounds in Fang Tu's kingdom, Wind began to teach Chao Yen martial arts and the secrets of his techniques. In return, Chao Yen showed his loyalty by becoming Wind's faithful bodyguard. In fact, Chao Yen's devotion is such that he will slaughter mercilessly and without hesitation at the behest of Wind.

FANG TU

FULL NAME: Fang Tu (translates as Bloody Vulture from Ting Shan, a remote Chinese dialect)

ALSO KNOWN AS: Wei Shing, Priest Te-Shan, Nurhachi Shuzing

FIGHTING STYLE: Northern system of Shaolin martial arts, Tibetan White Crane boxing, and Mongolian wrestling

SPECIAL SKILLS: Fang Tu possesses great strength, able to press approximately 500 pounds. He is master of the Tibetan mystical sciences. He can increase his physical strength to superhuman levels. He has the power to manipulate men's minds even at a distance of 50 feet. He can generate electrical shocks at a distance of thirty feet. He also has the ability to control the amount of blood loss he can sustain in an injury, and though he is not invulnerable to firearms, he has sufficient internal strength to resist bladed weapons.

Fang Tu is an expert in the Northern system of Shaolin martial arts, Tibetan White Crane boxing, and Mongolian wrestling. He is also a brilliant medieval alchemist.

VULNERABILITY: No known weaknesses.

BIOGRAPHY: Fang Tu was born Wei Shing, son of Wei Jian Tsen, the famous warrior and leader of the Hyena clan. As a child, Wei Shing was brought up by Mei Tu, 2nd wife to Wei Jian Tsen. From her he learned the secrets of the Black Flower Cult, a society which was thought to have been annihilated for its acts of evil sorcery and murder. Discovering the dark power of Mei Tu, Wei Jian Tsen became afraid of the evil that she might unleash on the world. Even though it pained him deeply, he had her executed to save his people. Wei Shing was too young to understand his father's actions and burned with hatred. He left the clan for the village of Fang Ching (in the outer area of Hunan) where he was taken in by his father's old friend, Master Kai Chi Tien, the eldest and most respected of the Shaolin monks. Master Kai told Wei Shing that he must free his mind of his troubled past and not be fueled by thoughts of revenge and bloodshed. Master Kai believed that, through practice of the temple's martial arts, Wei Shing could be disciplined. He was dreadfully wrong.

After he mastered the arts, Wei Shing left the temple and formed the most treacherous group of bandits and killers known as the Army of the Black Sword. For many years, they terrorized man and woman alike. Eventually, Wei Shing - who by now had taken the name Fang Tu - returned to the land of his birth. With his army, Wei Shing wiped out the Hyena clan and killed Wei Jian Tsen (his father) with his own hands. By defeating the Hyena clan, Wei Shing attained his father's most coveted possessions, one half of the Dai Bing mask. Legend has it that he who possesses the Dai Bing mask will have supreme powers. As his father begged for mercy from Fang Tu's attack, Fang Tu learned that the other half of the mask had been hidden in the Shaolin temple. To gain the mask, he would have to defeat his old teacher, Master Kai, and Kai's best students. For this, Wei Shing knew he needed the talents of the three most famous and powerful warriors in the land.

By fabricating different stories that would deeply affect each warrior, he assembled his band of committed men. Now, with the skills of Wind, Fire and Earth, Fang Tu has become the most feared warrior of all.

HEALTH CHI measures how many hits you can take before being knocked down.

Your OPPONENT'S HEALTH CHI measures how many hits he or she can take before being knocked down.

The beads measure ATTACK CHI - the strength and speed of your blows. Attack chi drops every time a blow is attempted (as a cost for the blow), and recovers with time.

ATTACKING

For each attack opening, there is a perfect moment to strike known as the GOLDEN MOMENT. The closer to that moment you initiate an attack, the more damage you can do to your opponent. Attacking at the right moment is also the way to increase the maximum chi that you can have.

The higher your attack chi, the more damage you can do to your opponent.

Combinations and special moves do extra damage. Kicks do more damage than punches.

Punches will connect when your opponent is close. Kicks only work when your opponent is farther away. If you try to kick when your opponent is too close, you will only lose attack chi.

BLOCKING

If you do not attempt to block an opponent's blow, you will suffer full damage. If you do block a blow, the damage is reduced. The more accurately timed the block, the less damage you will suffer. Use the most effective type of block depending on where the attack is coming from: right, left or center. If you block at exactly the right time - not too early, not too late - you can SUPER-BLOCK, stealing energy from your opponent and increasing both your health and attack chi. A super-block may also cause damage to your opponent by reflecting back the attack.

SURRENDERING

You may surrender any time your health chi is not too low, but your maximum health and attack chi will decrease.

APPRAISE THE FIGHT BEFORE YOU ATTACK. STUDY THE EXTREMES OF YOUR OPPONENT'S STRATEGY AND YOU SHALL WIN.
